Feature Job

Our Feature Job this month is the new Colquitt County High School in Moultrie, Georgia. Altman + Barrett Architects designed the new school and JCI Contractors served as the General Contractor. The management team consisted of Jack Loyd, JCI's Project Manager, Chris Plummer, JCI's Superintendent, Kevin Cowart, Ace's Project Manager and Bryan Bailey, Ace's Superintendent. Ace's estimator for this project was William Kenyon. Mike Jackson, Billy Langford, Ricky Marr, Chris May, Travis Moore, Mario Ortega, Mark Stewart and many others contributed to the installation of the electrical systems. Our Prefab Shop (Josh Cresong, Amy Drew and Tony Kussman) was also heavily involved throughout the project.

The 362,000 square feet, four-story, state-of-the-art school contains an administration building, media center, gym, cafeteria, classrooms, computer labs and various vocational labs. Construction began in September of 2013 and the anticipated completion date is June 2015, which is six months ahead of schedule.

Ace Electric, Inc. would like to thank JCI Contractors for the opportunity to work on this project and congratulate Colquitt County on their new school.
