Feature Employee

Kelvin Slocumb

Ace Electric Inc is both proud and saddened to announce the retirement of Kelvin Slocumb from our Valdosta Division effective June 2nd. Kelvin worked as an Electrician for Ace for the last 9 ½ years, and was well respected by both his supervisors and his peers.

Kelvin got into the electrical business in the mid '70s while working for the Atlantic Steel Company in Atlanta, Ga. Working for Atlantic as an industrial helper, he had the opportunity to learn all of the industry trades which included electrical. He recalls his first assignment as a foreman working for Atlanta Facilities Services in 1999, converting the Griffin High School auditorium into a performing arts theater; an assignment he was proud of.

Kelvin's retirement plans include spending time with his wonderful wife, Diane, traveling as much as possible, going deep sea fishing at least twice a year and spending valuable time with his many grandchildren and great-grandchildren.

Ace wishes Kelvin all the best as he starts his new career in retirement.
